NEWCOMER'S DEMO & PRIZE TOURNEY

The Barony of Dragonsspine will host a Newcomer's Demo and Prize Tourney on Saturday, August 13, 1988 at Bonforte Park (corner of Wahsatch and Jackson, across from the Bon Shopping Center - site of last year's Warlord Tourney) in Colorado Springs. The Prize for this tourney will be a wool cloak.

The site will open at 10AM, with opening court at 11AM. This is a DRY site. There is some shade, but you may want to bring your own anyways. Public restrooms are available. Pets must be leashed at all times.

As this is a newcomer's event, we would like as large a turnout as possible. Please bring your banners ~~and pavillions~~ for display, as well as any other handicrafts. Musicians welcome!

Site fee is $1.00 per person, $2.00 per participating fighter, smalls under 12 free.

We will need volunteers to help keep an eye on display items, as well as answering questions from the mundanes throughout the day. There will be informational flyers for distribution as well.

 CHANGE: As this is a public park, we will be unable to drive stakes into the ground, thus limiting the ability to raise pavilions, shade, etc.

Note From The Chronicler:
This issue was built by Milady Minna, Deputy Chronicler. She may do the next several as well, for the experience. Minna and Alister plan to transfer to the East Kingdom in about 8 months. Hopefully the Meissis training will be useful out there.

Grand Rustick II

Glen Ora August 27-28

Due to circumstances beyond their control (popular demand), and general insanity, the residents of the incipient shire of Glen Ora bring you GRAND RUSTICK II! The date is August 27-28, starting at 11AM, whence the insanity shall begin! This is a camping event on private property, with running water, shower, indoor (and probably outdoor, too) plumbing, but no stores or pharmacies within 25 miles, so remember to bring prescriptions or necessary supplies. Campers are welcome to start coming Friday evening, and the barbeque grill will be set up, but no food served until the Saturday night feast. We suggest that you bring a change of garb for the evening feast, as you will most likely get dirty! Sturdy shoes are recommended, due to the presence of cactus. For those lacking camping equipment, there is a limited amount of crash space. A dripping wet site!

Games:Rooster Crow,Lords-Ladies-Smalls Muckle Coo Shot Put,Knife & Star Throw,Ring Jousting,Duck & Goose Quarterstaff Melee, & more!

Feast Menu:Roast duck with currant sauce,roast beef with horseradish sauce, enchanted broccoli forest, french bread and butter, cheese platter,salad and vegetable bar(if you thought last year's was good,come and see what we have for you this year!), and for sotelties, a selection of pies.

We are adding something different this year, known as the IRON LORD competition. The Iron Lord (or Lady) will be our shire's defender/champion,carry the shire favor,and win a valuable prize. (can't say what it will be yet as it isn't finished!) The Iron Lord must participate in the following: heavy weapon or fencing, archery,knife and star throw,(loaner equipment available),muckle coo shot put,ring jousting, and duck & goose quarterstaff melee. The sick minds of Lairds Andrew and Donald are devising a tie-breaker if necessary. Advance registration necessary for Iron Lord competitors. More next month.

There will be an auction after the feast,as a fundraiser for the kingdom. Donations appreciated!

Feast fees: Adult $7 until Aug. 10, $8 after, $9 at the door. Children under 13 half the adult price. Smalls under 6 free. Site fees:$2 per person,or a maximum of $7 per tent.(if you can squeeze 10 people in your tent,it is only $7 for your group) Site fee includes Sunday breakfast for feasters and campers. If you wish to merely come and play for the day, but not feast or camp, it is $3 per person for the weekend.
